Campus France, the French international mobility agency

Agence Campus France is a public agency overseen by the French ministries of Foreign Affairs and of higher education and research. The Agency has 3 missions:

- To raise the international visibility of French postsecondary programs.
- To enhance the experience of international students, scholars, and researchers.
- To administer academic and scientific mobility programs on behalf of its partners.

CAMPUS FRANCE NETWORKS

Campus France's network of local offices

More than 200 local offices—called Espaces—in more than 110 countries advise and orient students, helping them make sound plans for study abroad.

In cooperation with Campus France's central office, the local offices assist in the organization of major events (such as education fairs) outside France and perform a monitoring function that supports the mobility programs of the French and foreign governments.

The Campus France Forum

300 institutions of higher education and research belonging to the Campus France Forum contribute actively to the promotional efforts of Campus France around the world.

Regional delegations

Campus France's 5 regional offices throughout France bring support services close to students. The regional offices cooperate with local organizations and institutions.

Educational consulting

Our expertise

Campus France can tell you everything you need to know about French higher education and provide advice as you plan your project, taking into account the profile of your students, their academic level, and their career objectives, among other things. Our involvement in the design and implementation of a tailored program carries the following benefits:

- Contacts and connections between French postsecondary institutions and future scholarship recipients to facilitate placement
- IT tools to support your program: information, promotion, selection of grantees (by a dedicated committee in cooperation with Campus France)
- Training in French and in academic methods (pre-academic programs in students' country and/or in France) to help grantees make a smooth transition to campus life in France
- Individual tutorials and advising
- Quality assurance
- Interactions between grantees and academic teams within educational institutions

Promotion of your program

Our contribution

Whether the challenge is to bring your scholarship programs to the attention of French postsecondary institutions or to promote educational opportunities in your country among French students, we are an agent of academic cooperation, working closely with France's diplomatic network abroad and with foreign embassies in France.

Student support

Our experience

Campus France offers comprehensive support services to students in your program, allowing them to focus on their academic pursuits and personal growth. The difficulty of coping with a new environment is eased in many little ways that add up:

- Informing, advising, and orienting students before departure
- Assisting them after their arrival in France: helping them find housing, obtain health insurance, disbursing grant and scholarship payments, providing orientations
- Organizing cultural activities
- Optionally, helping students find internships in the context of their academic program.

Career services and staying in touch following return

Our commitment

Campus France's France Alumni network is an advantage for graduates as well as program sponsors. The network enables international students who have studied in France to maintain ties with their community, to learn about events related to France, and to stay connected with French economic and professional circles.

From the very beginning of the program process, the information available on the Campus France website guided me at every step, starting with information on universities right up to tips on how to complete my application. And whenever I had a question for Campus France, I received a quick response. I also had a friend who was already in France, and she helped me a lot. I'm sure that advice and insights from students who have already been to France are very useful to new students.

Finally, meetings with Campus France helped us understand the overall process better and provided answers to our questions about the program, about France, and about institutions of higher education.

I will never forget what I learned and experienced during my incredible year in France...
