AUTOGRAF

Since 1982, Autograf has been at the forefront of Design education while remaining faithful to its founding principles. Autograf is one of the first schools in France to have specialized in the creative professions of communication. Starting with graphic design and multimedia, Autograf has expanded its offerings in such diverse fields as interior design, 3D animation, and, more recently Manga and Japanese animation or Sustainable Design Management. Autograf welcomes students from secondary school for programs extending to the master's level, and offers a preparatory year in applied arts, but also certified and state-recognised qualifications (RNCP) and European diplomas labelled by the FEDE (European Federation of Schools).

Autograf is expanding its international partnerships, particularly in Asia, Canada and Latin America through student exchange and workshops organized every year.
