ÉCOLE DE CONDÉ

école
de condé
— DESIGN & ARTS GRAPHIQUES

The Ecole de Condé, established in 1989, is a network of private institutions of higher education that provide high-quality education in design, illustration, animation and video games, photography, and the preservation of cultural heritage. The school's facilities in Paris, Lyon, Bordeaux, Nancy, Nice, Toulouse, and Marseille offer a work setting that is well suited to the challenges of contemporary creativity: well-equipped labs, prototyping labs, 3D printers, proximity to cultural resources, a library and documentation center, student services, and more.

The Ecole de Condé offers state-recognised diplomas. International recognition of the school's credentials is assured by accreditation from EABHES, an international higher-education accrediting body.

The École de Condé brings together five other European schools: IAAD and Accademia Italiana in Italy, HMKW in Germany and CEV & CES in Spain. These 6 schools and their 17 campuses allow students from the beginning of their studies to understand the international dimension of their profession. Thanks to this device, they can design an original international career, benefiting from the advantages of each of the establishments but above all from the variety of cultural, creative and professional environments.

Ecole de Condé is part of the AD Education network that brings together 7 schools in France (25 campuses) and 2 in Italy (4 campuses), 2 in Spain (3 campuses) and 1 in Germany (3 campuses): www.ad-education.com

◆ RESEARCH

The Ecole de Condé is innovative and places a priority on research and projects with cultural institutions and corporate partners. Cooperation with cultural institutions such as the Opera of Paris, the Philharmonic of Paris or the Theatre of Champs Elysées, with companies (Thalès, SNCF, L'Oréal, Chanel) or with some prestigious schools (HEC, Centrale Paris, Ecole Nationale de Cognitique, Ecole 42) are an integral part of the education programmes taught at Ecole de Condé. Design is a major challenge for the future of companies and institutions. Through its innovative teaching methods Ecole de Condé aims to train high level designers contributing to the development of an interdisciplinary study focused on new fields of investigation and application of design principles.
