The Ecole de Condé, established in 1989, is a network of private institutions of higher education that provide high-quality education in design, illustration, animation and video games, photography, and the preservation of cultural heritage. The school's facilities in Paris, Lyon, Bordeaux, Nancy, Nice, Toulouse, and Marseille offer a work setting that is well suited to the challenges of contemporary creativity: well-equipped labs, prototyping labs, 3D printers, proximity to cultural resources, a library and documentation center, student services, and more. The network of the Ecole de Condé also includes the school IAAD (campuses in Torino and Bologna), which makes cross-disciplinarity and mobility a concrete reality and establish the foundations for a European design-education cluster. The Ecole de Condé offers state-recognised diplomas. International recognition of the school's credentials is assured by accreditation from EABHES, an international higher-education accrediting body. Ecole de Condé is part of the AD Education network that brings together 7 schools in France (25 campuses) and 1 in Italy (2 campuses): www.ad-education.com

◆ RESEARCH
The Ecole de Condé is innovative and places a priority on research and projects with cultural institutions and corporate partners. Cooperation with cultural institutions such as the Opera of Paris or the Theatre of Champs Elysées, with companies (Thalès, SNCF, L'Oreal, Chanel) or with some prestigious schools (HEC, Centrale Paris, Ecole Nationale de Cognitique, Ecole 42) are an integral part of the education programmes taught at Ecole de Condé. Design is a major challenge for the future of companies and institutions. Through its innovative teaching methods Ecole de Condé aims to train high level designers contributing to the development of an interdisciplinary study focused on new fields of investigation and application of design principles.
