CREAPOLE

A leading creation and design school since 1981, CREAPOLE's goal has been to train the Creative Designers and Design Managers of tomorrow. CREAPOLE's concept lies on its powerful connection to the professional world and on human sciences. CREAPOLE's graduates are analytical in planning and highly operational in execution. These are their primary qualities.

Relying on a social understanding of design related economic models and of the world around them, they are capable of using this knowledge to create added value.
