

BRY-SUR-MARNE

INA SUP

Ina SUP, the school on the National Audiovisual Institute, is part of the Ministry of Culture network of Higher education institutions. The Ministry of Education also certifies the MA programmes offered. It has been created in 2007 to train students in the fields of Producing and Moving Image collections management

Ina SUP enrolls students coming from different backgrounds and nationalities, which have completed undergraduate studies. The master program lasts two years and combines hands-on training and theoretical studies on moving image and media.

Ina SUP is part of a teaching environment including Higher education, continuous training and research activities.

Being part of Ina enables the school to share a professional and cultural network, which facilitates the insertion of graduates in the industry.

Ina SUP is a full member of CILECT, the International Association of Film and Television Schools.
