EFREI PARIS

Efrei Paris, Engineering School founded in 1936, has been accredited to award a Master of Engineering degree since 1957 by the Commission des Titres d'Ingénieur (CTI). Every year, the school grants up to 350 Master of Engineering degrees.

Efrei Paris works in close partnership with a large number of companies, helping to meet the professional goals of roughly 3000 students. Now with more than 14,000 alumni engineers working in France and internationally, Efrei Paris is highly placed among the French academic rankings and those of recruiting agencies and human resources departments of large companies.

◆ MAIN PROGRAMMES OF STUDY

Efrei Paris offers a five-year integrated Engineering program, which is structured around 3 years of undergraduate education and 2 years at the graduate level. The undergraduate program provides a solid education in scientific and technical fundamentals (Mathematics, Physics, Computer Science) as well as general training in management, communication and languages.

The Master's program prepares students for a large spectrum of professional responsibilities in all the domains of information technology. Efrei Paris welcomes a large number of international students and over 50% of its programs are offered in English at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Graduate students can choose the following Master Programs:

- Big Data and Machine Learning (EN)
- Business Intelligence and Analytics (EN)
- IT for Finance (EN)
- Software Engineering (EN)
- Digital Transformation and Cloud Services (EN)
- Networks and Cloud Infrastructure (EN)
- Bio-Informatics in partnership with the CNAM (FR)
- Renewable Energies and Smart Grids (FR)
- Cybersecurity (FR)
- Avionics and Space (FR)
- Robotic Systems and Drones (FR)
- Imaging and Virtual Reality (FR)

◆ RESEARCH

The research laboratory at Efrei Paris focuses on the two quickly growing domains of Big Data and Web Intelligence and Connected Objects and Indoor Localization. Our researchers work in collaboration with several laboratories and companies in France and Europe, creating a link between fundamental and applied research. International faculty, doctoral students and international students carrying out an internship are welcome to join our team.

◆ STRENGTHS

- Academic excellence
