ESIEE Paris is a higher education institution founded and operated by the Paris chamber of commerce and industry as an outgrowth of the chamber's educational mission. ESIEE Paris trains engineers and scientists in the field of new information and communication technologies, as well as managers specializing in management of advanced technology companies. The school is a member of the Université Paris Est higher education and research cluster.

◆ MAIN PROGRAMMES OF STUDY

ESIEE Paris has a permanent faculty of 96 professors, an adjunct faculty of 400, and 50 laboratory engineers and technicians. ESIEE graduates enter a wide variety of careers. Many become research and development engineers, systems engineers, and engineering managers. ESIEE Paris's offer the master degree in the following fields and curriculum concentrations:

- 8 concentrations taught in French :
 - Computer science
 - Information systems
 - Telecommunications
 - Embedded systems
 - Electronic system
 - Industrial engineering
 - Biotechnologies Bioindustries
 - Renewable Energy
 - 2 international concentrations entirely taught in English:
 - Electronics: wireless communications, micronanotechnologies, sensor networks
 - Computer Sciences: image processing, embedded systems
- ESIEE Paris also offers:
- 2 international masters more compact and also taught in English
 - Computer Science
 - Wireless communicant sensors
 - 1 M.Sc. MOTIS : Management of Technology - Information System
 - 2 Mastères Spécialisés (MS, specialized Masters).
 - Technological innovation and project management (in French)
 - Information and communication sciences and technologies for the health sector (in French)

◆ RESEARCH

Research takes place around following broad themes:

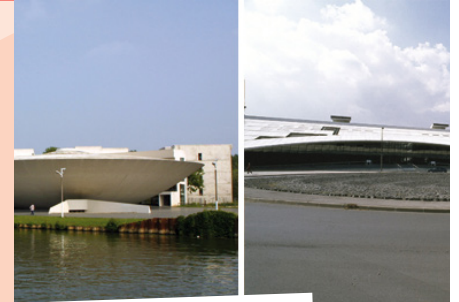

- Computer science
- Electronics, microtechnologies, communication systems
- Management of innovation

◆ STRENGTHS

- More than 1,500 rooms and studios are reserved for students in 11 different student residences.
- The Cité Descartes campus (15,000 students)
- The school's large, futuristic building houses an array of technical facilities and equipment, including 300 m² of cleanrooms, a major advantage for the research and innovation activities of the school and its partners.
- Strong links with industry: The school has a 93% placement rate, thanks in good part to the 650 businesses that hire ESIEE Paris interns and graduates each year. Four teaching chairs have been endowed by corporate donors.

◆ LOCATION

The ESIEE group is located in the Cité Descartes, the largest higher education and research cluster on Paris's east side. It is 20 minutes by train to the centre of Paris
