STRALANG

The Stralang Institute, established in 2009, is a private institution of higher education, which offers courses of the French language and culture for any level in a university context. Our teachers have earned a diploma in this field. Since the Institute is located close to the university campus and other international institutions, it is important to us that our students are able to study in an inclusive and progressive atmosphere with a maximum classroom size of 9 students. Our goal is to teach the French language in an active and communicative way, so students learn to speak and write in the language.
