HAUTES ETUDES INTERNATIONALES ET POLITIQUES

Political Science & International Relations

Understanding Man, Shaping the World

HEIP, a private higher education school created in 1899, supports students from all over the world towards careers in international relations, diplomacy and political science.

Many international students follow the programs offered by HEIP.

HEIP develops partnerships with foreign faculties for university exchanges.

The school benefits from a privileged setting thanks to a modern campus offering students an ideal workplace with cafeteria, library and study rooms.

◆ MAIN PROGRAMMES OF STUDY

HEIP offers an education focused on political science and international relations.

The school offers general undergraduate training and second cycle training with specific orientations.

FIRST CYCLE

For three years, students are trained in all disciplines of political studies and international standards necessary for a perfect understanding of the issues of the contemporary world: International Relations, Political Science, International Law, Political and Social Economy, History...

SECOND CYCLE

HEIP offers several MSc courses in the classic cycle or in the work-study cycle.

The two years devoted to the second cycle enable students to specialize in a specific sector of activity or to prepare for the public administration examination in order to start a career in high administration, civil service, ministries, embassies, NGOs, private companies...

◆ RESEARCH

The didactic orientations of the HEIP school are introduced and developed by L'Observatoire des temporalités.

The HEIP Observatoire des temporalités reflects on society issues and attempts to offer answers. The main mission of Observatoire des temporalités is to propose a reflection around structured and sourced notes with experts from all fields in order to develop a systemic and holistic approach by enhancing collective intelligence.

A certain number of areas of study are recommended by the HEIP Strategic Orientation Council, whose mission is, in particular, to participate in the definition of the work of the HEIP center of expertise, the Observatory of temporalities.

◆ STRENGTHS

A teaching body of very high quality, whether they are academics or renowned professionals, the teachers contribute by sharing their knowledge, their experiences, their analyzes and their research work within the framework of the school.

Content adapted to students' professional goals, attentive support throughout the academic course and a long-standing reputation with a network of alumni all over the world are the guarantees of success for HEIP students.

9 foreign languages are taught : English, German, Spanish, Italian, Arabic, Chinese, Russian, Japanese, Portuguese

Possibility to spend a semester abroad during the third year of the Bachelor's degree.

◆ LOCATION

HEIP main campus is located in the 15th arrondissement of Paris.

5 other campuses are available: Bordeaux, Lyon, Rennes, London and Toulouse (from September 2025).
